THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF CLINICAL NUTRITION, official journal of The American Society for Clinical Nutrition, is a peer-review publication. All manuscripts on the subject of clinical nutrition receive review by two or more experts in the area of research covered. The educational aspects of peer review are enhanced by our providing each reviewer of a manuscript with a copy of specific comments to authors written by other anonymous reviewers as well as with the final decision by the editor-in-chief.

Researchers wishing to submit manuscripts to the journal for peer review are directed to the first issue of each volume for information on preparing manuscripts. The Information for Authors appears in the January and July issues each year. Subject and author indexes appear in the June and December issues each year.
