Human Health and Disease

is the one book that makes available to professionals in the fields of biology and medicine the facts and figures they need — all in clear, concise and readily retrievable format. It is the latest of FASEB's Biological Handbooks, and contains 186 tables of data, each completely referenced to the literature. At a glance, the reader can tell what is known about the biological manifestation and diagnostic significance of factors causing disease, about drugs and compounds of biological interest in disease prophylaxis, and about the "normal" biological state which is crucial to the understanding of the abnormal. HUMAN HEALTH AND DISEASE is a unique reference volume which provides immediate access to a formidable body of knowledge. It belongs in the working library of every scientist concerned with better understanding man's function as a biological entity.

McCollum Award

Nominations are invited for the 1978 McCollum Award of the American Society for Clinical Nutrition. Nominations must be submitted in five copies and include 1) a letter outlining the basis for the nomination; 2) a list of published papers of the nominee that are immediately pertinent to the nomination; 3) reprints of those papers that most effectively support the nomination; and 4) the nominee's curriculum vitae. (A complete bibliography is not needed.)

Seconding or supporting letters that do not add information to, or simply duplicate, the original nomination will not be accepted.

Sponsored by the National Dairy Council and administered by the American Society for Clinical Nutrition, this award consists of a grant of $1,000 and an inscribed scroll. It is presented at the annual meeting of the Society to the individual who, by his investigations of biological processes, etiology of diseases, and of methods of treatment and control, has made a distinguished contribution to the field of clinical nutrition in the past five years.

Nominations are to be sent to: American Society for Clinical Nutrition, 9650 Rockville Pike, Bethesda, Maryland 20014, to arrive not later than October 31, 1978.
